

Night Photography

with Rita Lombardi
Associate Professor of Photography
Munson Williams Proctor Arts Institute

It's that time of year when days are getting shorter and we become fascinated with the darker side of things. Come for a hands-on workshop explaining, troubleshooting, and experimenting with techniques for low light and night photography. We will discuss long exposures, flash, painting with light, using available light and best practices for approaching an unknown exposure.

Please bring your preferred camera, a tripod, and any flash you may be interested in using. Also dress warmly for an outdoor demonstration and bring a willingness to experiment and have fun.
